

Saddle Research Trust Survey Update

Early results from The Saddle Research Trust survey are indicating that there is a serious and widespread equine welfare problem of saddle performance and fit.

From amongst the UK horse owning public, 62% of respondents reported performance and / or lameness problems associated with saddle issues and a staggering 92% reported back problems.

The survey questionnaire provides the opportunity to voice opinion on what type of research is required in the future, giving horse owners and riders a direct link to the scientific world of research.
